

The Breckenridge News.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1906.

JNO. D. BABBAGE,
Editor and Publisher.

It was a dusty carnival.

Crops are good in this country.

This week the News enters upon its thirty-first year. In 1876 the first issue was turned out on a Washington hand press.

Advertising for hands to work on the public roads. The like was never heard of before in this country. Good for St. Clair.

Robert Emmet Woods, our new Scotch-Irish Postmaster, combines all the qualities that go to make up a useful public servant. He has initiative, and is "canny" — "Wait a minute." Fact, but as the girls used to say down here all this don't make Bob "perty".

Mr. Bevridge is in his forty-fourth year. In his short but splendid and crowded life he has done two things that cannot be forgotten while memory holds her seat. He is the father of Federal meat inspection and the discoverer of the "ship railroad" across the Isthmus of Panama.

The railroad men of this country are good and patriotic citizens; they are representative members of the communities in which they reside; they stand for a class of working men who generally think before they act, who weigh both sides of a question before deciding. They are as anxious to cleanse corporate life from graft and favoritism as the most radical modern reformer, but they will resent, and that most strenuously, any course of policy outlined by those who have the destinies of the nation in hand that will tend to "kill the goose that lays the pay check."

Cloverport people don't want simply patches on the rotten floor in the bridge across Clover creek; they want a new floor, on both sides, from end to end. There is a great big howl about the way the people of the town are being treated in regard to this matter, and the proper authorities, whenever they may be, would do well to remedy this dangerous condition of the bridge. The people are no longer joking about the matter but are in earnest. Should any one get hurt as result of this continued negligence a big law suit would be forth coming, which we think, would justify under present conditions.

Preparations are being made at the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington, to enforce the naturalization law just enacted. The law is drastic, and provides safeguards against frauds that have been perpetrated in the past as a result of lax methods in conferring citizenship.

Jurisdiction to naturalize aliens is conferred upon United States Circuit and District courts and the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; also all courts of record in any State or Territory, having a seal, a clerk and jurisdiction in actions at law and equity, or law and equity in which the amount in controversy is unlimited. It provides that an alien as a pre-requisite to citizenship shall speak English. An important provision of the law is this:

"That no person shall be naturalized, nor shall any certificate of naturalization be issued by any court within thirty days preceding the holding of any general election within its territorial jurisdiction."

Two years notice of intention to become a citizen is required.

How is this for southern prosperity. In 1885 the seven States of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas had only $117,000,000 capital invested in manufacturing; to-day they have $572,000,000 so invested, an increase of $455,000,000.

These seven States, with Mississippi added, increased the value of their farm property $1,347,000,000 in 1890 over $706,000,000 in 1860 over $880. All kinds of crops are raised—cotton, fruit, poultry, hogs, live stock, hominy, &c. The Southern poultry brings $25,000,000 a year and the eggs sell for fully $20,000,000 a year. The butter production of the South is 200,000,000 pounds a year, and the total annual value of the total farm products of these eight States is nearly $905,000,000.

Other Southern States are doing well. Twelve billion dollars will not cover the entire South's increase in only a score of years in farm values, bank deposits, products, of factories and farm products.

The naval board of the Jamestown Tricentennial Exposition, says a Washington correspondent, which consists of Rear Admiral Harrington, commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard; Capt. Porter, assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and Capt. Pillsbury, chief of Rear Admiral Evans' staff, is engaged in outlining a plan for the participation of the navy in the big fair. One of the principal features of the Jamestown centennial is to be the naval pageant, in which the navies of the world are to be asked to take part. It is the purpose of the naval board to determine upon a programme and to advise the maritime nations, many of which are making extensive preparations for sending their biggest and best ships to Hampton Roads during the exposition.

Great Britain is expected to send an entire fleet of her best warships, and in view of the fact that the Jamestown undertaking is to commemorate the establishment of the first English settlement in the new world, it is possible that she may send her newest and biggest battleship, the Dreadnought, to American waters during the exposition.

The board will shortly submit an outline of its plan to the Secretary of the Navy and a programme will then be mapped out for the participation of the American navy in the big pageant.

Twenty Year Battle.

"I was a loser in a twenty year battle with chronic piles and malignant sores, until I tried Buckle's Arica Salve; which turned the tide, by curing both, till not a trace remains," writes A. M. Bruce of Farmville, Va. Best for old sores, cuts, burns and wounds. 25¢ at Severs Drug Co., Cloverport.

Frog Breeding.

Frank Corlett, the popular County Clerk of this county, is scouring the country for frogs at $1.00 per dozen.

He is just emerging into the industry of frog breeding from which he hopes to realize a neat little fortune. Frank says he can put his whole output on the Louisville market at $1.40 per dozen. Every small boy in and about town is hunting frogs for Frank, and if his visions come true the industry may rival the Standard Oil enterprise.—Elizabethtown News.

BENEFIT TO AGRICULTURIST.

The Department of Agriculture
To Instruct Farmers in The Uses of Denaturized
Alcohol.

Norfolk, Va.—The value of free alcohol to the public can be better appreciated when the many uses of this product are known to the farmers of the country. Uncle Sam being desirous of giving the public the full benefit of the opportunities in store, purposes having an exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition showing the development and uses of denaturized alcohol which is made from the products of the farm and garden. This exhibit will be in charge of competent government officials of the Experimental Station of the Department of agriculture.

In connection with this Government exhibit will be exhibits of various kinds of internal combustion engines using denaturized alcohol for fuel. Farmers will learn at the Jamestown Exposition how to save labor in a thousand different ways. They will be shown how they can utilize machinery for sawing wood, chopping stock feed, pumping water and many other things. And the farmer's wife can employ machinery for doing her churning, washing, operating her sewing machine and in many other ways to save labor. Some of the machinery is already on hand for utilizing straw and cheap fuel and so associated will be the trees about that every farmer can make his own supply from the waste products of the farm.

Uncle Sam will also show the public how to use denaturized alcohol as fuel for heating and cooking purposes at home and for lighting the houses and country roads. He will teach the farmers how they may save time and expense by making their fuel and lights at so small a cost that their living expenses will be reduced to a minimum their conveniences so greatly increased that they will find real luxury in living on a farm.

The Jamestown Exposition, where Uncle Sam's new show will be given from the public to the historic shores of Jamestown, June 24, next, Virginia, April 26th, 1907, and close Nov. 30th, 1907. It will be an international exposition, given in honor of the three hundredth anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America.

Thousands Have Kidney Troubles and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand over-night. If a sediment or sediment or sediment indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys, if there is a sediment in your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent urination to pass it or pain in the back is also evidence that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is no secret to the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, heart, bladder and every part of the human system. It is the best way to hold water and causing pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant sensation of being uncomfortable and weak during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effects of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root is soon evident to those who take it. It is wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best and the drugstore in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may send a sample of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about both sent to Dr. Kilmer & Son, 100 Broad Street, New York. FARMING IN NORWAY.

From the Bulletin of the American Geographical Society.

Think of a country that has but 740 square miles of ploughed land! More, indeed might be tilled were it not needful to keep it in meadow. In some places the Norse farmer has actually carried back to overlying slopes the soil which rains, in the process of tillage, have swept down the lower fields. No one can know how many plots, seen in gardens patches, planted in rows not more than twelve or eighteen inches apart, and covering the ground completely when mown, have come.

The agricultural process is of more interest than the raising. The dairy is the staff of life, and scythes, like a small sickle or a corn cutter, are carefully wielded over rough and hummocky ground where the American farmer would turn loose his sheep. Yet in the better meadows the growth is rank and full; not tall, but soft, thick and fine, and matting so close that there is added reason for dryness as the people do, open hurdles or trellises. Much too moist are the air and soil to cure grass in the way of other latitudes. It would become rather than forage if left to cure on the ground. On the other hand, the texture turns the rains effectively along the fields, while the winter, the mountain dairy, is in operation on the height, whether the cattle and the dairymaids have migrated for the summer period.

Sometimes from these heights a turf wire is stretched to the honestest home, down which, three thousand feet or more, the products of dairy and forest are transported. I did see haycocks at Oie in American fashion and there are mowing machines in Rosendal; but, in great part, the cow stands docile in a small boat crossing the lake at the head of the Haranger a type of the primitive life of man and beast on the farms of the north.

A Sustaining Diet.

These at the evenging days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as it the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our race, that the full effect of Ely's Swamp Root is such as to effect a change in the physical condition of the person. It is the power of this preparation to call into the mind something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organs Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It seems as though my world over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, 'bearing down' pain in the womb, and no ambition for any task

Miss Maude Morris

They do not realize that the back is that which causes the trouble, but quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the female organs or kidneys, and that the aches and pain will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the most effective remedy in such cases. It specially cures female and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

I have seen many cases of trouble for over a year, suffering intense pain each month, my back ached until it seemed as though it would break, and I could not stand upright. I did not dream of attending to my work but had to stay in bed a large part of the day. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would have sleepless nights, bad dreams and severe headaches. All this undermined my health.

We consulted an old family physician, who advised that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and soon found that I could sleep and eat better than I had done for months. Within a few weeks I was able to get up and go about without pain or discomfort. I have never suffered from backache or pain."—Miss Maude Morris, See Ladies' Aid and Mission Society, 52 E. Hunter St., Atlanta, Ga.

First to Howl.

No town will become a good business center so long as only two or three business men patronize their local paper in the way of advertising its columns. Too often the men in a few lines of trade are about the only ones that reach out through the agency of their home paper after trade. Other merchants wait until it seems induce the people to come to town and content themselves with trade that naturally drifts to their place. And right here we want to say that if we were to fill our columns from week to week with advertising from our mail order houses of goods, it would be a market for us.

These men, whose names, rarely if ever appear in our advertising columns would be the first to raise a howl against discrimination against "home enterprises." When the truth of the matter is, we have been hammering away week after week, and year after year, in an endeavor to attract our readers' attention to the indictment, offered by these local merchants, who of whom utterly disregard the merits of their local paper as an advertising medium through which to reach the public. So why should they "kick" these merchants abroad seek to secure custom from those whose names are on our mailing list? A public ringing bell would be a good idea if he does his part to attract people to come to town, and by letting the public know just what inducements he has to offer. The best way on earth to do this is a liberal use of printer's ink. Try a few applications and be convinced that it will deliver the goods.—Meade County Messenger.

GIFTS IN ABYSSINIA.

Officials Will Take Them If They Are Presented in the Right Way.

The agent of the British government who visited Abyssinia some years ago wished to return the favor of a native offered by some suitable present. The bestowal of this favor was, however, a matter quite beyond the knowledge of one brought up in the court circles of western civilization. His experience was instructive.

"The arrangement was badly handled," he says, "and when I arrived several persons, besides the high official in present. After a few words had been discussed I mentioned my object in making the visit, and as far as I could understand the bystanders were deeply interested in my donation.

"In an instant I was aware that I had made a fatal step. The eyes of the high official and his attendants clouded the hitherto serene brow, and tones of fathomless integrity declined the proffered gift, while strong inward feeling found vent in a rocking motion of the body.

"You have utterly misunderstood me," said he. "The friendliness which I have shown you has been extended solely with pure motives of kindness to the stranger in the land. Devotion to your sovereign and your people is not by the external consciousness of rectitude. Your intentions are doubtless good, but greater happiness will await you from the knowledge that you will now recognize how disinterested my conduct has been."

"You have surely misunderstood me," said he. "The friendliness which I have shown you has been extended solely with pure motives of kindness to the stranger in the land. Devotion to your sovereign and your people is not by the external consciousness of rectitude. Your intentions are doubtless good, but greater happiness will await you from the knowledge that you will now recognize how disinterested my conduct has been."

"You have undoubtedly very discontinued my and my apologies for so great a mistake were profuse. I declared that I could not quit this abode until restored calmness had given me the assurance that his conduct had recovered me from such a state of mind as this. This is the greatest affliction to me."

HON. BEN JOHNSON

Read the card printed in another column from Dr. Young, Sup't. Ky. Anti Saloon League. It ought to satisfy the most skeptical as to Col. Ben Johnson's attitude on the Local Option question. We especially commend it to our friend, Dodson.

Since the above was written we have received another clincher, in a letter, which we print from the Rev. Charles Anderson, pastor of the Baptist church at Bardstown. This does our soul good and ought to do any man's son good who is a friend of temperance. Ben Johnson is a man of courage, of conviction, of right, and deserves the support of all good people.

A Story With a Moral.

The following, where a moral is clearly shown, is taken from an exchange recently a church congregation in a little town in the West built a new church. To pay for it they were obliged to call on the merchants of the community for donations. The merchant who headed the list was John Smith, a jeweler. BOSTON'S NEW CHURCH.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DEDICATE TWO MILLION DOLLAR MOTHER TEMPLE.

Thousands From All Parts of World Thronged Historic City—Laurel Hill Monument.

The dedication in June of a magnificent new addition to the Mother Church of the Christian Science denomination in Boston was an event of the highest significance in the history of this religious body.

But as the result of a spontaneous recognition of Mrs. Eddy's work and the vigorous growth of the movement, expressing the liberality of thousands of Christian Scientists and embodying the spirit in architecture, design and modern construction, this new building was logically the central feature of this year's gathering.

The church is one of the largest, if not the largest, in the country, its seating capacity being 5,012. Its style of architecture is Italian Renaissance.

The pews and other interior fittings are of mahogany. The walls are Concord granite and Bedford stone, with beautiful decorative carvings. The inside finish is a soft gray to harmonize with the Bedford stone columns supporting the dome.

The most elaborate of these

scope, which will merely detect and record the fact that there has been an earth tremor. Some of these are so sensitive as to indicate the cause of the disturbance.

Second is the seismometer, the function of which is to record the maximum force of an shock, either with or without an indication of its direction. The third instrument is the seismograph, which is so arranged that it will record the record of a shock, its duration, direction, amplitude and period of successive oscillations. The last instrument is by far the most delicate of the three.

In the construction of this earthquake-recording machine the maker must so suspend a heavy body that when it is in its normal position is disturbed, it moves in a circle and passes through a series of successive oscillations. The object of this recentering is to insure the right descent of property, something which has not been attempted with much difficulty under the old condition of affairs when the Sioux had no family name, and each redskin could be identified only by his own individual name, and a cognomen which probably had not the slightest resemblance to those of any of his relatives.

The complement of the instrument is composed of a system of suspended body with various surfaces that are moved by clockwork. These surfaces are constructed of highly sensitive materials, on which record play the suspended weight records the strength of the earth's crust.

The most elaborate of these mechanisms is the seismograph, which records the vertical and two horizontal vibrations of the earth in the case of a seismic disturbance.

4D A GOOD SPANKING.

Boys Rescued From Drowning. Mother Administrates an Ad- ditional Spanking.

An interesting little story of very human interest comes from the river front on the outskirts of New York City, where Senator George F. Hoar recently came to the country from Naples, was walking the other day with his seven-year-old son, Antonio, for an airing. While she was watching the boy, she saw a little chap risked drowning in the pier and then dash into the river.

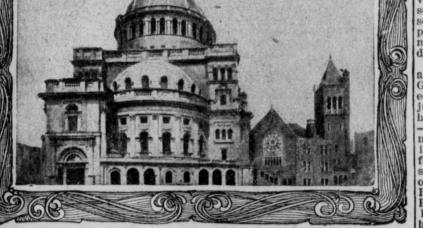

The mother's shrieks were heard by the policeman. He jumped into a boat and swam to the boy, who was safe, the anguish in her face gave way to a look of resolute purpose, and as the dripping Antonio was placed on the pier, she laid him across her knee and said what purpose the two mothers have done to their erring jewels ever since boys were pants.

From that time, however, the increase was rapid. In 1850 there were 200 churches. There are now 657 churches and 275 societies not yet organized as churches, making 932 societies holding church services. In 1880 there were only 456 members of the active connection. In 1894 the total membership was 2,536. Five years later it had reached 18,134. These figures show that the principal growth has taken place during the past seven years. The membership at the present time is about 72,000.

The dedicatory exercises were attended by delegations from all parts of the United States and Canada from Great Britain, Australia, Sweden, Denmark, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Austria, South America and other foreign countries.

One hundred and forty-five church edifices have already been erected by the Christian Scientists, as well as a wide connection with the members of the older denominations. It is said that when funds are no longer needed for the completion of the Mother Church, a large number of buildings will be presented in different parts of the country.

NEW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEMPLE IN BOSTON.

WE planned to come to Boston and Boston's Anteroom. The police were surprised at the size of its size. They thought that the provision of so large an auditorium was entirely called for, the attendance at that time being about 500.

Mrs. Eddy organized the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston in 1879 with twenty-six members. So slow was the growth of the members at first that in 1880, ten years later, there were only eleven churches.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDERS.

They Are the Most Delicate of All Instruments.

The instruments invented for the recording of the motions of the earth's crust during an earthquake are looked upon as recorders as no man made of the older denominations. So highly sensitive are they, indeed, that the very slightest vibration motion is recorded perfectly. Even the tread of feet can not affect the instrument, if sufficient to cause vibration.

There are three classes of instruments for the automatic recording of seismic motion, each with a very similar function. First is the seismometer, which will merely detect and record the fact that there has been an earth tremor. Some of these are so sensitive as to indicate the cause of the disturbance.

Second is the seismometer, the function of which is to record the maximum force of a shock, either with or without an indication of its direction. The third instrument is the seismograph, which is so arranged that it will record the record of a shock, its duration, direction, amplitude and period of successive oscillations. The last instrument is by far the most delicate of the three.

In the construction of this earthquake-recording machine the maker must so suspend a heavy body that when it is in its normal position is disturbed, it moves in a circle and passes through a series of successive oscillations. The object of this recentering is to insure the right descent of property, something which has not been attempted with much difficulty under the old condition of affairs when the Sioux had no family name, and each redskin could be identified only by his own individual name, and a cognomen which probably had not the slightest resemblance to those of any of his relatives.

The complement of the instrument is composed of a system of suspended body with various surfaces that are moved by clockwork. These surfaces are constructed of highly sensitive materials, on which record play the suspended weight records the strength of the earth's crust.

The most elaborate of these mechanisms is the seismograph, which records the vertical and two horizontal vibrations of the earth in the case of a seismic disturbance.

CLOVERPORT, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1906.

PART TWO.

RENAME THE SIOUX.

SOME TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND INDIANS ARE RECEIVING CHRISTIAN NAMES.

Educated Indian Tribe Selected by Christian Braves. But Ta-ta-ta Coyote Becomes Robert T. Wolf.

Uncle Sam has recently inaugurated a unique and interesting project in connection with the Indian, who are at least the most populous division of them. This is nothing less than a scheme for renaming every chief and brave, every squaw and papoose of the Sioux tribe.

The object of this wholesale rechristening is to insure the right descent of property, something which has not been attempted with much difficulty under the old condition of affairs when the Sioux had no family name, and each redskin could be identified only by his own individual name, and a cognomen which probably had not the slightest resemblance to those of any of his relatives.

The renaming of the 25,000 members of the Sioux tribe was undertaken on the advice of Hamlin Garland and George Bird Grinnell, well known authors, and other persons who have made a study of the needs of the Indians.

To decide upon the naming was however an easier matter in comparison to the actual carrying out of the strenuous undertaking.

SUSPICIONS OF THE INDIANS.

The President and his advisors realized from the start that they would be unable to give the Indians new names and quite another to induce the sons and daughters of the forest—ever suspicious of the white men to accept the new names.

However, the Great Father at Washington was fortunate enough to enlist the cooperation of Dr. Charles Alexander Eastman, a highly educated Indian, clergymen, who is a full-blooded Sioux, and who came into national prominence some time since when he married Mrs. Goodall, the famous actress, New England poetess. At the President's solicitation Dr. Eastman, who is considered the best educated Indian in the world, agreed to personate under the task of giving his people to adopt the system of family names desired by the government.

Just what the Indians meant by this was never understood until it is explained that not only was Dr. Eastman to visit all the Indian villages of the Sioux tribe and personally bestow names, but he must also invent new names for 25,000 persons of both sexes and apportioning perhaps half as many or one third as many different family names in addition.

In this position of his noble mission, Dr. Eastman, who is a remarkable man, had only one care, and it was to avoid work getting to the boy and lifting him into the boat.

He was safe, the anguish in her face gave way to a look of resolute purpose, and as the dripping Antonio was placed on the pier, she laid him across her knee and said what purpose the two mothers have done to their erring jewels ever since boys were pants.

been proven that the new system of names will be of the greatest benefit in valuing and dividing the great descent of Government allotments of land from generation to generation. Incidentally it may be noted that even though this unmasking of the Indian as a man of property rights previously denied them, as a case in point it may be cited that only a few weeks ago Dr. Eastman was instrumental in securing for a young Indian 640 acres of rich land of high value which had been temporarily lost to her owing to her separation from her own tribe, and who had been turned over to the point of selling when President Roosevelt's special commissioners stepped in and set this man right.

'Phoning Through Flesh.

To talk through the human body or a row of human bodies, for the matter of that—is one of the weird scents at it! Snatch it pal!" whispered Reddy pocket, "I'm the Swift," who won this title from the lightning rapidity with which he was known to relieve men's pockets of their contents.

In a moment the practiced fingers of Jimmy had skillfully extracted a flat seal purse from the pocket of a night-clubman who was elbowing his way through the crowd that was besieging a belated Broadway.

"The day had not been a rich one for the 'picks,' and Swiftly eyed the thin purse rather suspiciously.

"Mighty slim-looking, hey, Red?"

spell the hard words to his chum, who listened with a cynical smile. At the end of the round he was about to shout with derisive laughter, when Jim sprang forward, collared him, and said sternly: "Look here, Red! You're a friend, all right; but as sure as I'm a man, you ain't no star for a feller to laugh at!"

For an answer Red thrust his hands into his pockets, eying Jim curiously from the window.

"I never had no mother," mumbled Jim. "She died when I was a little chile, so I never knew it, but it must be awfully hard for a feller to be a mother like that to be good to him, and learn him things. Why, who knows, perhaps if you and I had had more time together, I might have been a good boy myself, and not been kicked 'round by the 'boss,' who never gets enough out of us, we might have had a good schoolin' and been makin' a living, livin', instead of theivin' in New York."

These words of regret upon the past of his living life, and the expressed desire for something better, from one whose own home circumstances in infancy had been the street, and whose companions had been crooks and ne'er-do-wells, were too much for the inexplicable Reddy. His heart beat with a sense of pride in the boy. The old man disappeared with the money, safe from Jimmy's wicked fingers.

Jim's head sank until his chin rested upon his naked chest, his companion glancing at him with eyes full of anger.

"Well, 'tarn' no use," said Jim, quietly but firmly; "I couldn't Red, somethin' like that—and that I'll never try it again."

"You get another pal—if you want to tell 'em all you think about 'em' to keep this secret, I'll help you, but what's it in? Well, it's done for me, I've quit the profession."

That night a black seal purse was left in the office of one of the great New York newspapers, with a note scrawled in pencil, as follows:

"Please try to find the owner of this. He wants it bad. The thief was as was."—L. Los Angeles Times.

In Extremis.

The four-year-old daughter of a clemency was all one night and was put to bed early. As her mother was about to leave her she called her back.

"Mamma," she said, "I want to see my pap."

"No, dear," her mother replied, "your pap is busy and must not be disturbed."

"But, mamma," the child persisted.

"I want to see my pap."

"As before, the mother replied: "No, your pap must not be disturbed."

But the little one came back with a clincher.

"Mamma," she declared solemnly, "I am a sick woman, and I want to see my minister."

Tomatoes for the Camera

Raising tomatoes and canning has grown to be quite an industry in most of the States. Maryland leads the list with about two million cases per annum; Indiana, with her million cases, second; followed, in turn, by New Jersey, California, Delaware and Ohio. The canneries are permanent institutions, and the demand is increasing, and there is no reason why the growing of tomatoes will not continue to be a profitable business with many opportunities for a career, and a better return from raising them than from the market. In the former case, first of all, a large yield is sought. Early maturity is of less importance to the grower, who contracts to sell the whole at a fixed price. It is said that good corn land is rich enough for tomatoes, although much clay loam is preferred. 1st many.

Splendid results follow fall or winter sowing. At any rate land should be plowed and manured as possible. Plow deep and follow with earth mulching, that is, maintain a thin layer of fine earth on the surface by the use of com, which will be of great value in saving the moisture. The variety should be such as the canneries prefer. They will generally purchase the plants at a nominal price to the grower, and pay a high price. In case it is preferred to grow the plants near where they are to be set, they should be started in a cold frame or in the open, being given a manure of manure, com, and in a rich warm soil. The plants will increase to proper size in four or five weeks, and should be set out in the field in the early part of the month, at a distance of six feet each way for ease of cultivation. Start the cultivation early, but be careful not to bark the plants, that is, to kill them. When they begin to bear, do not cultivate closer than the ends of the branches. Continue stirring the soil

A New Potato Culture

A queer tale is a gardeners' course by way of Chicago. It is stated that a half-bushel of sawdust, a dash of chemical solution and fifteen potatoes carefully enveloped with the sawdust will grow a bushel of tubers on his top or in his cellar within sixty days. This process is being followed at Great Falls, Mont. Moreover, the grower will have potato bugs to contend with, but no turnips, and the soil at certain intervals, and no contest with worms.

The process of Mr. Darr's process is termed the "imperial potato" from the fact, grown under these apparently unnatural conditions, there is no surface vegetation, because of which each potato is in the sawdust and is enabled to produce at least twelve normal-sized tubers.

Recently at the Oakland Plaza, in the city of Oakland, Calif., Mr. Darr disclosed the methods of growing potatoes by his system. Operating on the theory that the process of surface vegetation is a means of securing nourishment and in reality sapped the vitality of the tuber, Mr. Darr experimented until the six months of the year he could accomplish this seemingly natural course on the part of the plant by supplying it artificially with its needs.

Planted in manure, peat, peat, straw, or any other earth product that would permit of the circulation of air, moisture and heat, and by applying solutions of various fertilizers, he found that a single potato would multiply itself by attaching to itself mostly itself to six normal-sized potatoes of approximately the same size without throwing off any of its energy

SON OF TOM CRITTENDEN.

Helps Son of Out-Law Jesse James In Struggle to Wipe Out Stain on His Name.

Kansas City, June 29, 1906. Jesse James, son of Jesse James, the Missouri outlaw, is now a tuffed law yet. Last week he passed a successful examination before the State Board of Examiners and was enrolled in the Courts of this state as an attorney at law.

In a class of 37 Jesse James stood first. His average in all branches was 91 per cent. H. A. Ashley, chairman of the Board of Examiners, said after the examination that Jesse James had the brightest legal mind of any young man who ever appeared before the board.

Jesse James is a self-made man. He was handicapped as few boys are. The son of an outlaw, he was left an orphan at 8 years of age, without money and with a bad name to live down. Soon after, the builder of his father's home came to Kansas City and made a living for herself and her to children sewing. Jesse went two schools until he was 12 years old, when he decided that he was old enough to work for his mother. One Sunday he saw the following advertisement in a newspaper: "Wanted—An office boy. T. T. Crittenden, Jr."

Jesse answered the advertisement next morning. Twenty other boys answered it, and Jesse was the youngest of them all. Mr. Crittenden at his desk looked over the crowd of boys and beckoned to the smallest of them.

"What do you wish, my boy?" he asked.

"I want to be your office boy."

"What is your name?"

"Jesse James, Jr."

Mr. Crittenden was surprised he was the son of T. T. Crittenden, Sr., governor of Missouri who offered a reward for $50,000 for the capture, dead or alive, of the outlaw, Jesse James.

To get this reward Charley and Bob Ford killed Jesse James. And now here was the son of the dead outlaws, asking work of the son of that governor.

Crittenden hired the boy, and he testified that he was faithful.

A few years later Jesse went to work in Armour's packing house as a clerk. He studied at home. His mother was his teacher. After a few years in the packing house he opened a cigar store in the County Courthouse. He wrote a book in defense of his father, and it was published. It sold well. When he was 21 years old he had $700 in the bank, and owned a cottage in which his mother and sister lived. Then he opened a cigar store in the business center of the City.

At this period of his life, when he was on the road to prosperity and to an honored manhood, he was arrested for the crime of train robbery. It was charged that he, with accomplices, had held up a Missouri Pacific train, and seized $10,000 in the express car of $90,000. It was a dramatic train robbery, as much so as was any of the robberies of a similar nature which had made his father's name notorious throughout the world. He was tried, was ably prosecuted, and was acquitted. But the criminal charge against him was a serious set back to his hopes and ambitions. It had taken all his savings to hire lawyers to defend himself, and the worry had caused his mother's health to fail. Soon afterwards she died.

Living Down His Bad Name. Jesse worked harder than ever at his business. He had a chance to sell out, and did so at a good profit. Then he opened a pawnshop and married. But he wished to be a lawyer, and he went to the night sessions at the law school here, and all day long he sat in his own shop reading law. He graduated with highest honors, his professor praising him. Then he passed the legal examination referred to in the foregoing.

He has sold out his pawnshop and opened a law office, and when his first case, which he appeared in Court, was in defense of a man charged with the crime of burglary, Jesse James, 31, was born. He is worth $10,000, every dollar of which he had made by honest, hard work. He has two children. He lives in his own home, and all his life he has not tasted whisky or beer or any other kind of intoxicating drink. He does not use tobacco or snuff. He has no bad habits. He is scrupulously honest. To men with whom he does business his word is as good as a promise.

Jesse James's greatest pleasure is to go with his wife and babies on Sunday visit to Frank James, his uncle and Mrs. Zerinda Samuels, his grandmother, upon their farm in Clay County. In a corner of the dooryard this old-time Compton family tree, the body of Jesse James, the outlaw, lies buried. When young James and his family visit there, relatives from the neighborhood gather in and great

HARGIS ON THE STAND

First Witness For Defense Called In the Marcus Murder Case.

ATTACKS STATE WITNESSES

Claims He Knows Nothing of the Marcus Killing and Contradicts Statements of Feltner and Others—Refuses on the Character of State's Attorney, Who Replies Vigorously.

Bearsville, Ky., July 13.—In his own behalf, former Judge James Hargis, charged with the murder of Attorney James B. Marcus, took the stand. Hargis, who was the first witness for the defense, told the story of his life in Breathitt county, and how he had risen from a poor boy to a man of wealth and position. He asserted that he had nothing to do with Marcus' shot. He saw Tom White come out of the door of the courthouse just before the shots were fired.

Witness said he had no intimation that Marcus was to be killed, and said he had never spoken to Curtis Jett, the defense attorney, with regard to the killing of Marcus or any other person. He said Moses Feltner never received any money from him not to testify against him. He said Feltner wanted him to prepare an affidavit for Sam Feltner, his son-in-law, but that he declined to do so. Judge Hargis asserted that the statement of Aubrey Spicard was absolutely false. In fact, witness said no conversation ever occurred between him and others with regard to the killing. The witness referred to Commonwealth witnesses as "boasters" and men who lurked about town, and it was necessary for the court to admonish Hargis on several occasions and instruct the jury not to consider such testimony.

Witness asserted that the character of Attorney Adams, and Judge Dorsey sent the jury from the room while Adams took the defendant over the rack. Attorney Young, for the defense, objected to this, but the court overruled him. Hargis said a serious reflection against the commonwealth's attorney, and he believed Adams should be permitted to defend himself.

Hargis was questioned by Attorney Byrd on cross-examination to say he had no ill feelings against Marcus as a result of the contested election cases, but he said they never spoke after the indictment for criminal libel was returned against Marcus. He did not secure an indictment against Feltner because he did not feel that Feltner could stand any one.

Witness's Testimony.—
Bearsville, Ky., July 12.—Curtis Jett testified in the trial of Hargis and Callahan on the charge of murdering Lawyer Marcus. Jett admitted the assassination of Marcus, and told the manner in which the crime was committed on several cases, and was my bitter enemy, and I am the man who killed him," said Jett. He then told of the assassination, tallying with the description given by B. J. White, who said he had not conferred with the two men in the killing. Jett stated he used, he said, his own gun, and had been owned by him several months. He told the attorneys that Sheriff Callahan had given it to him. The defendants helped to defend him in his previous trials, and he was not able to find in the statement of Commonwealth's Attorney Adams, who said Jett was basely drunk, and that another attempt will be made to get him to repeat his confession.

Tom White, who served Jett on the stand and asked Attorney Byrd to excuse him, as he did not want to answer any questions. He was asked if he was in Jackson the day Marcus was killed, but declined to answer. White even refused to answer after being told by the court. Judge Dorsey ordered the witness to jail.

Other Witnesses.—
Bearsville, Ky., July 14.—Alec Hayes was called as a witness in the Hargis-Callahan trial, but his examination was brief. He said he made no promises to Curt Jett when he saw him in jail. He gave his testimony in full, and was asked to swear for the defendants. D. J. Dickerson, county judge of Powell county, knew B. J. Ewer when the latter was a resident of Powell county. Witness said his reputation for truth, veracity and honesty was well known. David Feltner, attorney, was called to impeach Moses Feltner, but on cross-examination by Attorney Jouett it was shown that Davis attended the trial at Winches-ter for the purpose of impeaching the witness. He was asked if he had been to the witness box that when he entered the witness box that Judge Benton instructed the sheriff to take charge of him. B. Fulton French was placed on the stand by the defense and made a complete denial of everything charged to him.

Finds General Conditions at the Stock-yards to Be Good.

Chicago, July 10.—"I found the general condition at the stock yards to be good," said Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, "and everything I have found in the statement of Commonwealth's Attorney Adams, who said Jett had some serious change of heart, is apparent, but not so serious as he found in the statement of Commonwealth's Attorney Adams, who said Jett had some serious change of heart, and that another attempt will be made to get him to repeat his confession."

Tom White, who served Jett on the stand and asked Attorney Byrd to excuse him, as he did not want to answer any questions. CLAIMS HE IS BANE.

Thaw Protests Against the Reports About His Mental Condition.—
New York, July 11.—Uttering a protest against being regarded as insane, Harry K. Thaw, the man who first formal statement since he shot and killed Stanford White on the Madison Square roof garden. Thaw declares his counsel assure him that no such claim as the insanity of his condition is contemplated into his mental condition is contemplated. The statement was handed by Thaw in person to the newspaper representatives. He gave it out with the permission of his counsel, with whom he pleaded to be allowed to make his defense. The protest reports as to his insanity, and especially the publication of a purloined interview with one of his counsel quoting the attorney as saying the prisoner was undoubtedly insane.

Miners' Strike Settled.—
Philadelphia, July 11.—Virtual settlement of the strike of miners in the Pennsylvania bituminous field, which began last April, was made in this city at a conference between representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and the operators in that field. The principal terms of the settlement are: A 5.55 cent increase in wages, with all mine workers over the scale which existed before the strike; application of the check-off system to miners, but not to laborers. The check-off was really the only obstacle in the final discussion of the terms of settlement.

Violation of Due Process.—
Paris, July 13.—Captain Alfred Dryer was charged with violation of the charge on which he was condemned as a traitor, dismissed from the army and imprisoned on Devil's Island, and regarding which France has been torn for years by the most bitter political and social agitation. The vindication is twofold, a supreme court first announcing a decision establishing the entire innocence of the accused man, and the ministry later deciding to present an urgent bill in parliament restoring Dryer to the army with advanced rank and other generous reparation.

Atter-Effects of the Grip.—
Every person who has had a grippe during the last year should take a course of Peruna.

The grippe has produced catarrhal inflammations of the whole mucous membranes and these are impossible until these are restored to a normal condition. This Peruna will do.

As Pe-ru-na Relieves Every Form of Catarrh, It Has Probably Relieved More Cases of Grip Than Any Other Remedy.

W. H. Parsons, an Ex-State Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Senate, Count of Texas, and was also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of many mucous symptoms of the grippe, which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week.

"It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration."

"My dear General Grant, in a four year war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Peruna as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy!"—W. H. Parsons.

No Time Like the Present. If you are suffering from the after-effects of the grippe, you have been discouraged in your attempts to cure yourself with other treatments, take a bottle of Peruna now.

In speaking of Peruna, Mr. Madison says:

"I am hardly ever without Peruna in my home. It is the most effective medicine that I have ever tried for a grippe. It cured my wife of nasal catarrh."
